The Committee would like to record its appreciation for all those who have contributed to the review, in particular, all who have given their views through written submissions or attended meetings with the Committee. They include frontline healthcare workers, Amoy Gardens residents, recovered SARS patients, chronic illness patient groups, operators of residential care homes for the elderly, media representatives, professional groups, healthcare sector organisations, experts and academics, private practitioners, Members of the Legislative Council, hospital and public health authorities, policy-makers, and heads of Government departments.

We are also grateful to the Official Languages Division of the Civil Service Bureau for its assistance in translating various submissions and this Report, to the Information Services Department for assistance in design and photographs, and to the Efficiency Unit for their technical support in page design and layout. Our thanks also go to the Printing Division of the Government Logistics Department for printing our Report very efficiently within the short time given, and to the Department of Justice for their advice throughout the review process.

The Committee wishes to express its appreciation to Dr Meirion Evans, a member of the Committee, for his assistance in drafting this Report. We would also like to thank Mr. Richard Luk and other staff of the SARS Expert Committee Secretariat for their assistance, particularly in researching various issues, organising sessions with stakeholders, collecting and processing views received, and providing logistical support. Their efficient and courteous handling of the complex logistics required to develop a report for Members who are scattered across the world is well appreciated.

We are particularly indebted to Mr. Patrick Nip, the Secretary of the Committee, for his efficiency and unremitting dedication to our work, and to Dr S V Lo who placed his considerable professional knowledge at the disposal of the Committee.
